

Google Toolbar vs. WebTRAN

If you have the google toolbar, and find you must hold the ctrl key to generate a .pdf report, teach the Google toolbar to allow pop-ups from www.pkmj.com (and from dev.pkmj.com).

1. Log into WebTRAN.
2. Find the Google Toolbar pop-up button.

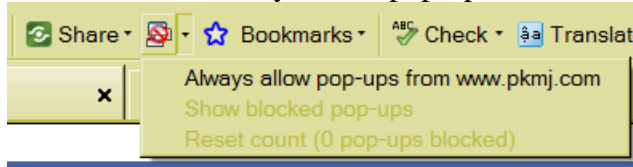

In the picture below, it has a red circle and slash on it, and comes between the word ‘Share’ and the blue star.

In this next picture, the pop-up button is selected and there is no circle/slash. (between the word ‘Share’ and the blue star)

3. While logged into WebTRAN, click the down arrow next to the pop-up button, and select “Always allow pop-ups from www.pkmj.com”

4. You should now be cured! If you want to test the cure, go to Queries – Action Items. Run a query, and then click “Report.”
 - If the white hand cursor has a yellow star appear on it, then Google is blocking your pop-ups.
 - If a new window opens with the queried action items in a .pdf report, then do the engineer’s celebration dance, or the Snoopy dance, whichever you prefer.
